OCTOBER 2018

Warrior Pride

OUR MISSION

We inspire, engage and empower all students to achieve their full potential.

OUR VISION

We aspire to be a model of innovation and educational excellence that prepares our students for the challenges of life in the 21st century.

OUR CORE BELIEFS

- Students are our first priority.
- Partnerships among students, staff, parents and the community are integral to student success.
- We value respect for self and others.
- All students and staff deserve a safe, positive and supportive environment.
- We hold high expectations for our students, parents and ourselves.
- We embrace change and strive to be life-long learners.
- We believe all students can learn and will never give up on any student.

ATTENDANCE MATTERS

At Chenango Valley Central School District, students are our top priority.
To help all students achieve success, one of our core focuses is on attendance.

Important Facts Relating to Attendance:

1. Research shows higher attendance links to higher student success.
2. The New York State Education Department is tracking attendance including chronic absenteeism. Chronic absenteeism is defined as a student missing at least ten (10) percent of enrolled school days. Important to note: Chronic absenteeism includes both excused and unexcused absences.
3. If your child is sick or late, please remember the following district procedures:
 - A parent/guardian must call the school attendance office if a student will be absent from school.
 - A written excuse must be provided by the parent/guardian upon the student's return to school.
 - Students arriving late with a legal reason must provide a note from a parent/guardian or the parent/guardian must call the attendance office.
4. Please refer to a document titled "When to Keep a Child Home with Illness" on our district website or contact the school nurse if you have questions about whether you should keep your child home or send them to school. Please keep your child home and/or contact their health care provider if they exhibit the following symptoms: Fever greater than 100.4° when temperature is taken by mouth; vomiting and/or diarrhea within the last 24 hours; severe sore throat along with fever and feeling ill for more than 48 hours or after exposure to the strep throat infection; honey-crusted sores around the nose or mouth or rash on other body parts; large amounts of mucous (liquid) from your child's nose with face pain or headache; severe ear pain or fluid coming from the ear; severe headache, especially with fever.
5. Members of our district staff may make attendance home checks for irregularities in student attendance patterns.
6. We have begun implementing "RoboCalls" in regards to attendance matters (see more information below).

What is a 'RoboCall'?

In an effort to continue to find effective ways to communicate with our families, we have begun to use an automated calling system (or "RoboCall") for district emergencies, weather-related delays and/or closures, and daily student absence notifications. This program is in addition to our Ed Alert System, which sends email and/or text alert messages if you have registered on our website (www.cvcscd.stier.org).

In regards to daily attendance calls for students who are absent, the automated system makes calls based on a student's morning attendance as of 9:45 a.m. for CV Middle School and High School, and 10:15 a.m. for Port Dickinson and Chenango Bridge. The call goes to the primary contact's home and cell phone number. If you have called your child's absence into the attendance office or sent a note before 9:00 a.m., you should not receive a call.

As mentioned, we will also use the automated calling system for weather alerts, delays and/or closings this winter season, as well as any other district emergencies. These calls will also go to the primary contact's home and cell phone number. If you are the primary contact for the child and have signed up for alerts via our website, you may get two notifications. At this time, we will not remove primary contacts from receiving the automated attendance calls, as we are obligated to have communication when a student is absent from school with either prior notification by a parent or guardian or a call initiated by the school.

For attendance follow-up and questions, please call your child's attendance office at the following numbers:

- High School: (607) 762-6931
- Middle School: (607) 762-6931
- Chenango Bridge: (607) 762-6954
- Port Dickinson: (607) 762-6977

District News

Message from the Superintendent

Dear CV Community,

It seems like we just opened our doors for the 2018-2019 school year and we are already in October!

Some items to share:

- 1) I recently sent a letter addressing our transportation issues. You can review it on our website (www.cvcasd.stier.org).
- 2) I also sent information regarding our district's new automated calling system that we will utilize for district emergencies, weather-related issues, and daily student absences. You can review this memo on our website as well.
- 3) We recently celebrated members of our Chenango Valley alumni and Chenango Valley community that are proud Warriors. Having been in the district for the number of years I have, it is always so rewarding to see the success of our graduates and the support from our community members.
- 4) As with any organization, there are bound to be areas of growth that we need to identify. I want to highlight the importance of following the chain of command in resolving issues and providing constructive growth. As the Chenango Valley community, we need to represent the positive things in our district. This works towards helping CV shine and be the exceptional school district it is in our region.
- 5) We are also preparing for renovations at both Port Dickinson Elementary and Chenango Bridge Elementary beginning July 1, 2019. The renovations will require relocations for our students for part or all of the school year. We hope to have the plan finalized by the CV Board of Education by late fall. I will send further information once we have agreed upon a plan.
- 6) Our district goals center on ensuring student success and completing the necessary graduation requirements. It is imperative that students are in school to learn. We have a dedicated staff here at Chenango Valley that wants to work with you and your child in their success, but we need your child here in order to accomplish this. We would also appreciate you scheduling appointments outside of the school day whenever possible.

Thank you and enjoy the remainder of fall!

Sincerely,

Dr. David P. Gill

Board of Education President's Message

Fall is a time for change, and times, they certainly are a-changin'. Children in 2018 are facing unique stressors. Social media compounds the already complicated ability of students to find their way. We understand the need to support our students' social-emotional development. As of July 2018, NYS requires mental health instruction be included in our health education curriculum. Chenango Valley takes this initiative, and the federal Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA), seriously. Last year, our talented social workers began training our staff in Mental Health First Aid, which gives our faculty the information and resources they need to assist students who are in distress. Educational equity is evident in our district and we work hard every day to educate the whole child.

Our school board has continued to work hard during the past couple of months. We held a work session in September to develop team norms and will conduct another one in October to develop board objectives. These sessions are imperative for us to work as a team and keep the focus on our important work. We also held many committee meetings. Our Budget, Audit and Fiscal Oversight Committee met with Inero, our auditors, who then presented the entire board another successful financial audit report for the 2017-2018 school year. Our Policy Committee met and reviewed the policies on the month's rotation. Our Educational Excellence Committee met to go over Regents data and as NYS just recently released the 3-8 data, we will be discussing those results soon. We also looked at class sizes and there is a marked improvement from last year. Lastly, we looked at the third and fourth quarter data from last school year. Solid action plans have been implemented throughout the district to ensure we continue the successes we have seen and also make adjustments and improvements in areas so our CV kids can shine. Our Transportation Committee met and discussed, extensively, routing and bus driver availability. We discussed this as a full board as well, and will continue to do so. Routes have been reworked so that we minimize the time our students are on the buses. There is a serious bus driver shortage in our area. Luckily, we have some of the best working for us, but we need to add to our hardworking team. Along with our administration and faculty, we are working diligently to find solutions to this near epidemic. We all understand the significant impact it is having on the academic, social and athletic growth of our students and we will not give up.

There is a great deal of work to do, but we have a great team. We are thankful for all of our faculty members who show up every day and help our kids become better students, athletes and most importantly, better humans.

It is an honor to represent you and we hope to see you at an upcoming meeting.

We are also planning how each of the elementary schools will be vacated during construction to allow for a concentrated work effort. The elementary schools will each receive a significant facelift and work will occur throughout the entire buildings. More information will be provided in regards to vacating the buildings.

In addition, there are some funds remaining from the 2015 Capital Improvements project, so we are proceeding with replacing the exterior sign at Port Dickinson Elementary. A new digital sign, similar to those at CV Middle School/High School and Chenango Bridge Elementary, will be provided to inform the community of upcoming events and activities. The project is currently out to bid, and we are hoping the weather cooperates to allow installation this year.

CV Alumni Receive Recognition, Inspire Future Graduates

On September 28, Chenango Valley's 2018 Hall of Fame alumni honorees and distinguished community members inspired future CV graduates during a day of events at each of our school buildings. With the help of a high school senior tour guide, each honoree was warmly welcomed and shared fun facts about themselves with our youngest Warriors at Port Dickinson Elementary, answered thoughtful questions from Chenango Bridge Elementary students, and spoke in the classrooms of CV Middle School and High School students.

After a day filled with activities, the honorees were recognized at an evening reception, hosted by the CV Alumni Association, held at The Orchard at Chenango Commons. The guests of honor were surrounded by community members, district staff, past honorees, family and friends. Proceeds from the Chenango Valley Alumni Association event will help to fund CV's Warrior Fund (to assist families in need), our CHOW pantry, and future scholarship opportunities for CV students.

Honorees of distinction included CV alumnus Hon. Robert S. Rose (Class of 1961), a retired Justice who also served in the United States Army as Commanding Officer of an intelligence unit in West Germany in 1970 and as a Captain in South Vietnam from 1971 to 1972. Gregory Stanton (Class of 1966) is a retired Susquehanna Valley teacher who became a franchisee for the McDonald's Corporation and has received recognitions for his restaurants. He has also contributed various monetary donations to academic programs, scholarships and the Ronald McDonald House. Suzanne Bennett Johnson, PhD (Class of 1966), is a distinguished research professor at Florida State University (FSU) College of Medicine who served as the 2012 President of the American Psychological Association, among additional accomplishments. Barbara Murphy Donnelly (Class of 1976) is an event planner and the business owner of House of Treasures. She is also highly involved in the newly formed non-profit "The Showers for Hope," which helps to provide a safe shower facility, clothes and food to those in need. Our distinguished community members included Catherine Reardon Fitzgerald, a CV Class of 1967 graduate, who taught at CV for over 40 years before retiring in 2015. She works as a volunteer with the Catholic Charities Food Pantry, substitute teaches for Broome County Catholic Schools and prepares weekly meals for friends and family. Our additional distinguished community members were Robert (Bob) and Mary Lou Zanot, who married in 1975 after meeting in college. Bob was a member of the University of Notre Dame's 1973 undefeated National Championship football team. He recently retired after 42 years of teaching, and began his career as an art teacher at Chenango Valley High School in 1981. He also coached 110 seasons of interscholastic sports; primarily football, basketball, and track -- and had over 300 wins as the CV boys basketball coach. Mary Lou, a CV Class of 1971 graduate, recently retired after 25 years of teaching fifth grade at Chenango Bridge Elementary. She has also helped to coach cheer and track at CV, among other contributions to the community.

Curriculum Corner: Spotlight on Title I

Submitted By: Mrs. Sarah Latimer (Director of Curriculum/Technology)

Welcome back everyone! It is great to walk around our schools and see all of our students engaged in learning! This month, I wanted to put a spotlight on Title I and the various intervention services we offer here at Chenango Valley. Title I is a federally-funded aid stream that is authorized under the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA). This funding is used to offset salaries of teachers in support positions like Academic Intervention Services (AIS), which allows us to work with students in small groups, providing them with the extra academic support they need. Funding is also used to purchase math and ELA support materials for the classroom.

There are a range of services that are provided under Title I and a variety of ways your child might be recommended. When considering a child for additional services, we look at multiple sources of data including NYS test scores (where appropriate), report card grades, benchmark assessments, and teacher recommendations. Students may be considered first under the building RTI (Response to Intervention) process. This involves a team of teachers and interventionists focusing on specific concerns (i.e. math facts fluency) that can be addressed right in the classroom (Tier I intervention). Depending on the area of focus, a student may also be recommended for AIS services (Tier II) that might involve an AIS teacher working in the classroom or pulling a small group of students for targeted skill work. After Tier I and Tier II strategies have been tried, Tier III services typically involve more 1:1 support and instruction.

All of these services are designed to be fluid and students should move in and out of the different tiers as their skills develop. When students are recommended for AIS services, you will be notified by a letter from the AIS teacher that will be working with your child. If you have any questions at all, please reach out to your child's classroom teacher or your building principal.

District Goals

1. At least 50% of all NYS Testing will rank top 5 in the Region
2. Increase Graduation to 90% and/or rank top 3 in Region
3. Increase Proficiency and Mastery for ELA and Math assessments by 10%
4. Attain 80% participation in school programs among students in grades 3-12

Bus Safety Drills Review Proper Behavior, Emergency Procedures

All CVCSD students participated in bus safety drills at the beginning of the school year. These drills included important practice for evacuating buses in the case of an emergency. If an emergency should occur, seconds count to ensure that everyone gets out quickly and safely.

In their drills, students learned about topics including safe crossing signals, ridership rules, how to properly use seat belts, what to do if a bus driver becomes disabled, and how to find and operate emergency equipment and exits.

Students also practiced using different emergency escapes including the rear exit.

In accordance with New York State Education law, bus safety drills are conducted at CV throughout the school year.

Guidance

The CV Middle School Guidance Office has been busy focusing on college and career readiness. We believe that it is never too early to help students think about furthering their education and future career options. Each grade level had activities specifically designed for their level of development. In the sixth grade, Mrs. Lally helped students identify their personality color and students participated in activities that linked their color to potential careers. They also researched some post-high school educational opportunities by looking through college brochures and pamphlets. The seventh grade students completed a week-long unit with Mrs. Lally that included completing a self-evaluation and career exploration guide, researching a career of interest on Career Cruising, and creating a banner of information about a college that offers a major that could lead to that career. Mrs. Samson took the eighth grade students on virtual campus visits and had students research the colleges attended by CV staff. The eighth graders will also be going on a field trip to visit SUNY Broome in early November. They will tour the campus and visit the academic buildings, library, Decker Building, Natural Science Center, and Student Center. During FACS 8, students will also explore college and careers further using Career Cruising. They will complete a research project, practice filling out job applications and participate in a mock interview.

Our goal was to involve the entire middle school in this month-long project that also featured teacher college trivia and a day for everyone to wear clothing from their favorite university. We hope that these activities have sparked conversations at home about future career options and the importance of higher education. Parents can encourage their children's career choices. They also have unique insight into the interests, values, and abilities that inform those choices. Please feel free to explore the Career Cruising program at any time. You can log in from school, home or any place that has internet access.

Back-to-School Tips

Connecting with Your Child's School Counselor for a Successful School Year

School counselors make a measurable impact in every student's life, assisting with academic, career and personal/social development. Professional school counselors are trained in both educating and counseling, which allows them to function as a facilitator between parents, teachers, and the student in matters concerning the student's goals, abilities, and any areas needing improvement. School counselors provide services not only to students in need, but to all students.

Meet or contact your child's school counselor. The beginning of a school year is an excellent opportunity to initiate contact with your child's school counselor and doing so can ensure your child's positive school experience. By communicating with one another, parents and counselors can have a definite impact on a child's success.

Discuss your child's challenges and concerns with the school counselor. As a parent, you know your child best. However, the school counselor can help your child as a student. It's important to encourage your child's expression of needs, hopes, and frustrations.

Learn about your child's school and social connections from the school counselor. When you need information or assistance, your child's school counselor can help you get in touch with the appropriate school officials; learn about school policies on behavior, attendance, and dress; know the school calendar of important dates; and stay connected with the school in many other ways. The school counselor can also help you locate resources in the community when you need them.

Work with the school counselor to identify resources and find solutions to problems. If your child is having a problem at school, it is important to work with your child's school counselor to find solutions. Discuss resources available within and outside of the school, and get information on how such programs can benefit your child. Your school counselor can be a valuable partner in your child's education and preparation for life beyond school.

Attention Student Athletes

As you know, the NCAA has established eligibility rules related to participating in Division I and II college athletics. Should you be considering athletics in college, it is absolutely imperative that you notify your school counselor now. Students are required to take 16 core subject courses. The NCAA does not use elective courses to complete the 16.

To participate at the Division I or II level, you also must register with the NCAA Clearinghouse by going to www.eligibilitycenter.org. Once you have registered, it will prompt you to let the guidance office know so we can submit a transcript. Finally, you must submit your SAT or ACT scores to the NCAA Eligibility Center directly from the testing agency in order to certify the student-athlete's initial eligibility. All test scores are required to be sent.

Eligibility rules are changing for students graduating in 2018 or after. See your counselor for details.

6 Ways Students Can Clean Up Their Social Media Before College

Source: <http://www.linkforcounselors.com/>

Here are some tips from Jade McDermott, a social media specialist at Bearly Marketing published on Her Campus that your students can use to clean up their social media pages before college:

1. Make sure your pictures say something positive We know how tempting it can be to post anything and everything on social media. But, a good piece of advice is to make sure every image you post represents something good about you. Shy away from posting anything related to partying, drinking and drug usage, nudity, profanity and excess negativity. "Posting this type of content can create a negative reflection of you and can harm your chances of getting into certain colleges, internships and jobs," McDermott says. A good rule to live by is that if you have to contemplate posting it, you probably shouldn't.	2. Watch your language This one goes without saying, but it is definitely worth repeating. You never know who is scrolling through your social media pages these days, so shy away from foul language. Profanity—from racism, to sexism, to homophobia, to explicit language—that you may think is a joke can cause viewers to reconsider the great person you probably are! Jade warns pre-collegiettes that this kind of language can harm your reputation even if you are a great individual. "You may be an honor student with a good heart, but for those who don't know you personally, all they are gathering as an impression for you is what they see online," she says. "By using profanity, you can appear immature, unpolished and unprofessional."
3. Balance personal and professional Social media background checks have gained extreme prominence in the past decade. Over 45 percent of employers admit checking for their candidates on social media. The way you behave online plays a big factor in how people judge your potential in the classroom (and eventually, the workplace). But wait, you're safe if you set your profile to private, right? According to Jade, not so much. "Keep in mind that anyone can look at your social media profiles, even if they are set to private," she says. "Many corporations (even small businesses) have access to tools and programs that can easily get around privacy settings." This is definitely beneficial to know. By keeping your online content and messaging clean and positive, you can share aspects of your personal life without worry. Jade says, "As long as you refrain from using profanity and posting anything vulgar or too negative, you can easily maintain a professional and personal presence." Although it may feel otherwise, you really do not need to post all the details of your personal life on the internet. Trust us – a few years down the road, you will cringe at some of the things you posted!	4. Share content that is relevant to your area of study You may still be undecided about what you want to do in life, but honing in on and exploring your interests is a great way to utilize the web. It goes without saying, but social media sites like Twitter and LinkedIn are great sources for networking (at any age)! It is never too early to get started on making a name for yourself—especially in fields like communications or business. Jade is a big supporter of this. "By posting and interacting with content that is relevant to your field of study or work, you are exuding passion, interest and knowledge in that subject," she says. "It is a great way to showcase your professionalism and is great for increasing your online network within your field." Networking is an essential part of making a name for yourself in any industry, and social media is a great tool for doing it!
5. Don't post about alcohol or drug use Just don't do it. Literally. Ever. In no way is this ever a good idea. Obviously, the college lifestyle comes with a lot of temptation (especially in your younger years). However, no matter how tempting it may seem to post a "funny" picture now, the repercussions will absolutely not be worth it later. In the digital age, you are your own brand. "When you post alcohol and drug usage online, you are essentially harming your image and your brand," Jade says. Some high school students may not think their online image is something to be too worried about, but according to Jade, they should rethink this. "I would explain [to these people] that they are creating a negative image of themselves and although they may not see it as a big deal, employers and colleges DO," she says. "Posting such content can (and often does) prevent you from getting into your dream college and/or your dream job." It is truly not worth the risk.	6. Cut down your "Friends" list In high school, it was probably cool to be friends with as many people as possible on your social media profiles. However, this will have little benefit in your collegiette life. In fact, it will probably become more of an annoyance than anything else. Jade reminds pre-collegiettes that social media is a powerful tool when it comes to both school and work, so you should monitor whom you are connecting with. "By maintaining relationships and connections, you can open doors and create opportunities for yourself and others," she says. "When you have too many friends, your network may be oversaturated and creating these networking opportunities can be more difficult."

What is Jade's biggest piece of advice for social media usage? Remember the two Ps: professionalism and positivity. "Employers and colleges are very particular about who they recruit and associate with them," she says. "At the end of the day, it is simply not worth tainting your image on social media."

We are the digital generation, so our knowledge and use of social media is ever-changing. Right now and definitely before college, students should clean up those pages – it is never too early to begin planning for your future!

What Colleges Look for in a High School Student

Source: Philadelphia Tribune, 5/2018

A challenging high school curriculum A transcript that reflects that the student takes on challenges can put them a step ahead. Academically successful students should include several honors and Advanced Placement classes.	Work or out-of-school experiences Jobs, summer programs and other out-of-school activities can demonstrate a student's sense of responsibility, dedication and personal development in areas of interest. Meaningful use of free time can show maturity.
Strong grades and an upward trend Admissions officers value grades that represent strong effort. Grades should show an upward trend over the years. However, slightly lower grades in a rigorous program are preferred to all A's in less challenging coursework.	A well-written essay A strong college essay provides insight into the student's unique personality, values and goals. The application essay should be thoughtful and highly personal. It should demonstrate careful and well-constructed writing.
Solid scores on standardized tests Scores on the SATs and ACTs carry considerable weight in the college admissions process. Scores should ideally be consistent with high school performance.	Positive recommendations from school personnel Hopefully the student's letters of recommendation from teachers and guidance counselors give evidence of integrity, special skills and positive character traits. Students should request recommendations from teachers who respect their work in an academic discipline.
Quality involvement in activities Passionate involvement in a few activities — and a demonstration of leadership and initiative in those activities — can only help a student. Depth, not breadth, of experience is most important.	Additional recommendations from adults who know the student well Supplementary recommendations by adults who have had significant direct contact with the student can also bolster a college application. For example, letters from coaches or supervisors in long-term work or volunteer activities are valuable. However, recommendations from casual acquaintances or family friends, even if they're well known, are rarely given much weight.
A record of community service Community service activities serve as evidence that a student is a "contributor." Volunteer activities should demonstrate concern for other people and a global view.	Other special attributes or awards Don't overlook anything special that makes the student stand out from the rest of the applicants. Include honors, awards, evidence of unusual talent or experience, or anything else that makes the student unique. Overall, colleges are seeking students who will be active contributing members of the student body.

Mary Beth Hammond,
principal, Port Dickinson
Elementary

As each new school year begins, we are focused on how to help our youngest CV Warriors find success. We are always teaching our students how to read and write. We also help them to learn about math concepts and about the community, state, and world we live in through science and social studies.

Safety and security are very important to us, as we want all of our faculty, staff, and students to be in a safe environment to learn and grow each day. Please know that safety (fire) drills, evacuation drills, and lockdown drills are practiced to help us prepare in case of an emergency.

Port Dickinson is a wonderful place to learn and grow. Our goals are very simple. We want our students to give it their best effort to learn every day, to make appropriate choices to stay safe, and to be great human beings. Through our “Warrior STRONG” program, we are instilling the importance of sharing, being a good friend, and making good choices each day. Attendance in school is very important at Port Dickinson Elementary every day. Students need to be in school each day (with the exception of illnesses) to gain knowledge and find success.

Our school and district news, events, and resources are available on our website (www.cvcasd.stier.org). Please feel free to follow Port Dickinson Elementary School on Twitter @Mrs.HammondCV. Our school district’s mission is to inspire, engage, and empower our faculty/staff, students, and our school community. Given this standard of excellence, our wish is that all of us work together, communicate, support learning, participate, and develop friendships and partnerships to help every warrior to succeed... in and out of the classroom.

Fall is nature’s masterpiece – full of vibrant colors; crisp, cool, fresh air; and delicious apple pie and pumpkin desserts. Spend time reading with your children every day and working with counting and numbers... the rewards are endless. Make the most of every day by spending quality time with your family and friends!

Principal Hammond Takes Part in Lessons at PDE

To get to know some of her awesome students and staff members better while transitioning as the principal at Port Dickinson Elementary, Mrs. Hammond took part in some classes with students. For example, Mrs. Hammond had a great time learning about different notes and musical education with students in Mr. Curry's classroom.

Students Learn Fun Facts about PD Staff at Morning Program

As a way for students to get to know those who educate and help them daily at Port Dickinson Elementary, all of the school's faculty and staff members were introduced to students in a fun and creative way during Morning Programs. Each adult shared a fact with the Morning Program Committee before their turn. During Morning Program, a fact was read aloud and students had to try to guess which adult it could be. For example, Mr. Wallach, the elementary school counselor, loves blueberries -- and Mrs. Marion, a typist in PD's main office, loves the color purple! Port Dickinson Elementary Morning Programs are a great way to get students together and instill the values of what it means to be a Warrior. Morning Program Recognitions, acknowledging students for positive actions, will continue monthly this school year!

Chenango Bridge Elementary

Dear Chenango Bridge Families,

Hello, my name is Mrs. Lori Pourby and I am the interim principal at Chenango Bridge Elementary. September was an exciting and busy month for us at Chenango Bridge as we welcomed close to 400 students in grades 3-5. During the month of September, we had new student luncheons for each grade level, our fall Open House, the Scholastic Book Fair, and we ended the month with a school-wide Warrior STRONG assembly where we were happy to recognize Chenango Valley alumni and introduce the character education traits we will be focusing on this school year. These include to be Self-aware, show Teamwork, be Responsible, be Open-minded, Nurture ourselves and others, and set Goals.

We have a lot to offer our students at Chenango Bridge including programs that build a strong academic foundation, as well as promote good character and positive self-esteem. We also have talented and dedicated staff, and a caring learning community. Our goal is to engage, empower, and inspire our students daily - we firmly believe each of our students can and will achieve success!

We appreciate your continued support and ongoing communication, and we look forward to working together with you to help our children have a positive 2018-19 school year!

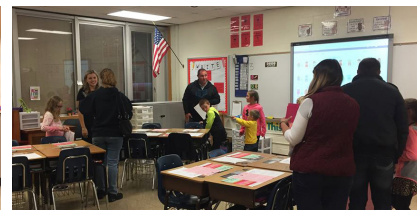

Warm regards,
Mrs. Lori Pourby

New CBE Students Enjoy Lunch with Mrs. Pourby

Our newest Warriors at Chenango Bridge Elementary enjoyed a lunch welcoming them to the district! Interim principal Mrs. Pourby hosted a fun dining experience with new students from each grade level. Students had the chance to share stories about themselves and discuss topics such as their favorite subjects, colors, and pets. There were only two new grade 5 students, so each had a friend join them for lunch. We're so glad to have these awesome new Warriors at Chenango Bridge and wish them much success this school year!

Warrior STRONG Assembly Inspires Students to Make Good Choices

Chenango Bridge Elementary students learned what it takes to be Warrior STRONG as some of our CV High School students put on a pep rally for their younger peers. The goal of Warrior STRONG (CV's name for our Owleus character education program) is to encourage students to practice the traits of what it takes to create a positive influence both in and out of school.

Girl Scout Troop 30036 Helps to Establish Buddy Bench at Chenango Bridge Elementary

Members of the Chenango Valley Girl Scout Troop 30036 raised money for a Buddy Bench to ensure Chenango Bridge Elementary students could always find a friend when needed. They wanted to help create an influence in the community and help improve the world around them.

The bench was the culmination of the troop's Bronze Award. The girls completed the Agency of Change Girl Scout Journey, which encourages leadership in one's self, in a team and in their community.

Awesome job and thank you to all who helped to make this project possible! We would also like to thank the members of the Chenango Valley Facilities and Operations Department who helped to install the bench!

We hope this bench serves as a place for students to build friendships for many years to come.

Middle School

CV Middle School is off to a fantastic start. I have been so impressed with all of the students this year; navigating their lockers and schedules, making new friends, and meeting new teachers. The theme for this year is "Warrior STRONG" and during morning announcements throughout the year we will be providing tips on how to be more amazing.

With warm fall weather comes the issue of student clothing. Please be mindful of the student dress code. Students should not be wearing clothing such as tube tops, tank tops, net tops, low necklines (front and/or back), see-through garments, "spaghetti" strap tops and/or bare mid tops. The shorts and skirts should be at least fingertip length. If students' outfits are of a questionable nature, they will be asked to change their clothing if they have other clothes in their locker. If they do not have clothing at school, a parent/guardian will be called to bring in appropriate clothes. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

On September 28, CV Middle School had its Warrior STRONG kick-off event. During the event, our students had their first Warrior STRONG meeting. The day ended with a school dance in the MS cafeteria and the opportunity for students to take part in an afternoon of activities including dodgeball, a reading room, a glam room, a chess room, and an art room. Thank you to Mrs. Price for spinning the tunes and getting everyone dancing. Also, thank you to our club advisors for organizing such a fun afternoon.

Please be sure to sign up for CV alerts on the district website under the "Public Login" section (on the top right-hand side of the CV webpage on desktop computers). This service helps keep you informed of things such as school events or closings/delays. Also, you may want to sign up for the "Parent Portal" through the guidance office. This is a service that allows parents/guardians to access their child's grades online. If you need assistance in signing up for the service and/or are having difficulties, please contact the CV Middle School Guidance Office.

The faculty at CV Middle School are excited to work with your child, and help them grow socially and academically this school year. We believe in the power of success. It starts with one positive experience that will grow into many more.

I am very excited for the upcoming school year and all of the events and activities planned for our students. Please remember that it is important for your child to be on time, prepared, and ready to learn each and every school day. Your support throughout the year is crucial to your child's success.

Please feel free to contact my office if you have any questions or concerns. Follow CVMS on Twitter: @CVMSWarriors. Look for us on Pinterest: CVMSWARRIORS for MS educational topics and ideas.

Chenango Valley Middle School Students become Warrior STRONG

Chenango Valley's character education program centers around the mission of helping our students become Warrior STRONG. Our goals include helping students demonstrate the traits of:

S- Self-Awareness T- Teamwork R- Responsible Behavior O- Open-Minded N- Nurturing G- Goal-Oriented

During the first few weeks of school, middle school students had several opportunities to learn about these traits and demonstrate what they have learned. During P.E. classes, our CVMS school counselors and social worker did team-building activities with students, reviewed the Warrior STRONG character traits, and identified types of bullying and how bullying can be prevented. Students also reviewed and agreed to Chenango Valley's four rules for bullying prevention:

- We will not bully others.
- We will try to help students who are bullied.
- We will try to include students who are left out.
- If we know someone is being bullied, we will tell an adult at school and at home.

On September 28, the middle school held its official Warrior STRONG kick-off event. Students learned about how to enter our Warrior STRONG T-shirt contest and participated in their first class meeting. Class meetings allow students to get to know one another better, learn more about school climate, talk about the issues that are important to them, and build a stronger CV community. After the class meeting, students had the chance to choose from several fun activities to finish the day and celebrate the beginning of a new school year. Throughout the year, students will continue to have regular class meetings with activities, which will continue to develop our Warrior STRONG traits.

The guidance office would like to welcome Krista Shoemaker as she completes her practicum and internship as a school counselor. Krista will be working with Mrs. Lally in the middle school guidance office. She will be participating in both classroom guidance and individual counseling services under Mrs. Lally's supervision.

If you have any questions or concerns this school year, please call the guidance office at 762-6918.

French 8 Students Create a Timeless Study Tool

"Quelle heure est-il?" To help prepare for a quiz, French 8 students created their own clocks. Madame Henyan told students the time in French and students had to reflect that time on their clocks. These will be a handy tool to reference throughout the school year!

High School

Hello, CV High School families! We've had a busy start to the school year! Classes are in full swing and I can't believe we've completed the first five (5) weeks already!

We had a wonderful Open House on September 17 - many families took advantage of meeting their children's teachers, and students were even able to sign up for some of our clubs and activities! Thank you to all who attended!

The annual "Rally in the Valley" took place in September as well. It was great to see so many Warrior families cheering on our sports teams, enjoying some cider and doughnuts, and even hula hooping and dancing!

We also hosted distinguished alumni for the afternoon on September 28. Selected high school students spent the day showing our alumni around the district. The special guests spent some time speaking to classes of MS/HS students. The day ended at a wonderful dinner honoring the guests.

We ended September with the annual Senior Breakfast. Ms. Edwards met with members of the Senior Class and their families to go over what to expect during their senior year. It's definitely a memorable year for both students and parents! If you missed the breakfast and didn't receive the paperwork, please reach out to her to receive more information.

I also want to remind everyone of the importance of daily attendance. Coming to school regularly is the biggest indicator for student success. Please reach out to me or the guidance department to talk about how to make daily attendance a top priority for your child.

Here are some upcoming events happening at CV High School:

- Monday, November 5: Family Career Night - MS/HS - 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.
- Thursday, November 15: Humanities Night - MS/HS - 6:00 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

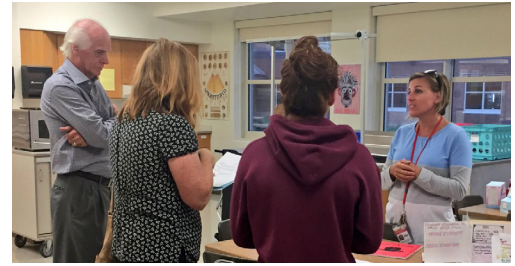

As always, please feel free to reach out with any questions or concerns. Thank you!

Students Explore Opportunities at Construction & Technology Career Day

About a dozen students from Chenango Valley High School were among approximately 650 students from 26 school districts around the Broome-Tioga region who took part in the "Con-Tech Construction & Technology Career Day" event on October 3.

As they entered the Broome County Highway Department facility in Chenango Bridge, students put on hard hats and began to learn firsthand about the exciting opportunities available in the career fields of both construction and technology. These opportunities shined in featured exhibits put together by a variety of organizations and schools associated with these career fields. Trade displays and heavy equipment demonstrations loaded on more prospects. Students were even able to get hands-on, supervised experience maneuvering equipment such as bulldozers and dump trucks. They also had the chance to take part in some fun competition to see the extent of their carpentry skills!

Thank you to those who helped to make this event happen including Broome-Tioga BOCES, the New York State Department of Transportation, the Broome County Highway Department, Broome-Tioga Workforce New York, the Construction & Technology Career Day Committee, and several local companies and trade unions involved in the industry. CV is grateful to be able to give our students the chance to dive into these "Career Day" opportunities!

CVHS Students Learn Important Lessons about Driving Safety

Students from Chenango Valley High School received a lesson on the importance of safe driving practices on October 11. More than 30 Chenango Valley High School students participated in Broome County's "Teen Traffic Safety Day" at the Floyd L. Maines Veterans Memorial Arena. They were among hundreds of students from local school districts who attended.

At the event, students watched a presentation from United Health Services titled "Let's Not Meet by Accident," which went through the process of how first responders and medical officials treat a person who has been in a traumatic accident. Kevin Brady, a Chenango Valley Class of 2013 graduate, is an emergency medical technician (EMT) and helped to put on this presentation.

After the presentation, students had the opportunity to participate in hands-on traffic safety activities that showed the effects that being impaired or distracted could have on one's ability to drive properly. Students also took part in a "Battle of the Belts" contest, competing to buckle their seat belts fastest.

Thank you to the Broome County Traffic Safety and STOP-DWI Program for co-hosting this important and educational event!
